FLAWED BEAUTY

Vitiligo: A Beautiful Imperfection

Flawed Beauty is a deeply personal collection that turns the story of vitiligo into something visible, proud, and wearable. Each piece is created using bleach to mimic the natural patterns of depigmented skin echoing the raw beauty of vitiligo in a way that feels both intimate and powerful. Designed with modern, everyday silhouettes, these garments are meant to be lived in, not just looked at. They challenge the idea that flaws need hiding, and instead celebrate them as marks of individuality and strength. This collection is for anyone who's ever felt different and is ready to see that as something beautiful.

LOOK 1

This look captures quiet confidence a relaxed shirt dress with soft bell sleeves and a detachable belt that gently defines the waist. Hand-applied bleach marks flow organically along the hem and sleeves, echoing the patterns of vitiligo and turning what's often concealed into a quiet, powerful celebration of individuality.

LOOK 2

A structured dress paired with flowing jacket featuring bishop sleeves and soft volume. Bleach-dyed vitiligo patterns gently surface on the jacket, creating a layered contrast that celebrates visibility, softness, and strength all at once.
